Revised Spring 2018
Schedule of Events

Join Betsy Duquette (English), editor of J19: the Journal of Nineteenth-century Americanists, for a discussion of writing for academic journals, getting your work accepted, dealing with reviewers comments (especially the infamous Reviewer 2), and other matters. Participants are encouraged to bring questions and share ideas. Light refreshments will be served.

RSVP TO Paula Baer by March 19th.

Learning Lunch

Diversity Matters: Diverse Learners in the Classroom: Going Beyond the IEAP

12:00 pm—1:00 pm, Musselman Library, 018

Jen Cole (Academic Advising), Kathy Delaney (Psychology) and students discuss our growing population of neurodiverse students. Barriers and ways to lower them will be discussed. As with all the Diversity Matters lunches, the emphasis is on ways of teaching that ultimately improve learning opportunities for all students.

A light lunch will be served on a first come, first served basis.

17 Apr  NEW Event

Parting Thoughts

4:00 pm—6:00 pm, CUB 260

Join four of our long-time colleagues on the eve of their retirement. Dan DeNicola (Philosophy and former Provost), Larry Gregorio (French), Paula Olinger (Spanish), and Carolyn Snively (Classics) will reflect on their time at the college and share their thoughts on teaching in the liberal arts. Hors d’oeuvres and beverages will be served.

15/16 May  Intercultural Communication

Spring Workshop, 8:30 am-4:00 pm, Glatfelter Hall 301

Lead by Erin Santana and Keshia Abraham (CIEE)

This workshop focuses on communicating appropriately and effectively in intercultural contexts, including our classrooms, meetings, and research settings. The Center on International Educational Exchange, which sponsors some of our global education opportunities for students, has a deep interest in improving intercultural communication. Workshop leaders Erin Santana and Keshia Abraham will guide participants through the concepts and practice of more effective intercultural communication. This workshop is jointly sponsored by the JCCTL and the Center for Language and Intercultural Communication, directed by Alan Perry (Italian Studies).
