Fulbright UK Summer Institute Programs Now Open!

The Fulbright UK Summer Institutes offer students a fantastic opportunity to be immersed in the study of British academics and culture. Students will take part in research, collaboration, presentation, and cultural events at an esteemed British university. They will enhance their leadership skills, develop knowledge and understanding of new subjects, and become ambassadors for the United Kingdom and the United States.

Students from all areas of study are encouraged to apply. Each Summer Institute—there are 9 universities to choose from—will cover a different theme such as the history of the slave trade in England or the political, social and economic relationships of Northern Ireland.

To meet the minimum eligibility, applicants must be a US citizen and possess a US passport; be at least 18 years old; have a high level of academic achievement with a minimum GPA of 3.7 (confirmed by academic marks, awards and references); applicants should currently be a Freshman or Sophomore in college/university; and be mature, responsible, independent, and open-minded.

The Awards will cover the majority of all costs incurred, including flights to and from the UK, university fees, and room and board at the host UK University.

Deadline for 2018: February 7. Each Program also varies in duration, from three or four weeks. Please arrange to meet with Dean Forrestal (mforrest@gettysburg.edu) for application assistance.

http://www.fulbright.org.uk/going-to-the-uk/uk-summer-institutes

Undergraduate Researchers’ Grad School Registry

The Council on Undergraduate Research (CUR) hosts a registry of undergrad researchers. The purpose is to facilitate matchmaking between undergrads with research experience and a desire to pursue an advanced degree, and graduate schools seeking high-quality students who are well prepared for research. Currently the registry is open to students and grad schools/employers in the fields of Anthropology, Archaeology, Arts/Humanities, Biology/

Any undergraduate may go to the registration page to fill out a simple CV form. There is no charge to the student. Student info will be made available to bona fide Graduate Schools or Research Programs that contract with CUR for this service. Organizations and companies seeking the students’ information for other marketing purposes will not be granted. Graduate school reps may contact students to invite applications or visits to campus and laboratory, or to share info about their programs and financial support opportunities.

Go to http://www.cur.org/projects_and_services/registry/students/
St. Andrew’s Society of the State of New York Graduate Scholarship

The Society is pleased to announce that two scholarships will be awarded for one year of graduate study in Scotland, commencing in the fall of 2018. Gettysburg is allowed to endorse one graduating senior of Scottish descent for this opportunity.

Applicants must demonstrate the significance of studying in Scotland. Proof of application to their selected school will be required for finalists. Candidates should possess high academic achievement, engagement in extracurricular activities, financial need, clarity of career purpose in pursuing graduate studies, and proof of US citizenship.

There is a required essay in which the applicant sets forth why s/he wishes to continue his/her education, including objectives to be achieved.

The scholarships is for $30,000 to be used against tuition, board, transportation, and other expenses (in that order).

Since a letter from President Riggs is required, you need to contact Dean Forrestal (mforrest@gettysburg.edu) by December 1st to set up a meeting to discuss a possible endorsement!

Humanity in Action Fellowships Accepting Applications until January 8, 2018

Applications from students and recent grads of U.S. colleges who are passionate about active citizenship, diversity, and human rights are encouraged to apply. The HIA Fellowship programs are fully-funded, with the exception of a small number of meals and the cost of airfare which Fellows are responsible for financing. However, HIA provides full and partial stipends for all of those with documented need. There are both European and domestic programs.

The HIA Fellowship programs will take place in Amsterdam, Atlanta, Berlin, Copenhagen, Detroit, Sarajevo and Warsaw in 2018. The 2018 European program dates are June 8 through July 8, 2018. The American programs, the John Lewis and Detroit Fellowships, are on July 10 through August 5, 2018.

Applicants must be currently enrolled undergraduate students (sophomores, juniors and seniors) or recent graduates. For the 2018 Fellowship, we define recent graduates as individuals from the undergraduate classes of 2016 and 2017 at accredited, four-year undergraduate colleges or universities in the United States. Applicants of minority backgrounds are strongly encouraged to apply.

If you are an American citizen studying at a foreign university, you are eligible to apply to the Humanity in Action Fellowship through the United States. If you are an American student studying at a university in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Denmark, France, Germany, the Netherlands or Poland, you may be eligible to apply through the Humanity in Action offices in those countries. Please contact those offices directly to confirm your eligibility. If you are a non-US citizen studying at a university in the United States, you are eligible to apply to the Humanity in Action Fellowship through the US office.

Humanity in Action Fellowship programs seek to educate, connect and inspire future leaders to be responsible citizens in the broadest range of fields – government and diplomacy, journalism, entrepreneurship and business, grassroots activism, science, academia and culture and the arts. These programs are designed for those who seek to enrich and broaden their knowledge and skills with various and often conflicting perspectives. As such, the programs are testing grounds for thinking anew with others about complex issues of diversity and democracy in historical and contemporary terms. The programs focus, through educational seminars and site visits, on vulnerable populations and the unfulfilled goals of just democratic societies. The programs do not engage in on-the-ground training for political activism, although some programs emphasize campaigns to fight prejudice through social media and other means.

Website application available at https://www.humanityinaction.org/pages/157-instructions
This scholarship is for a year of study at one of four Scottish universities: Edinburgh, St. Andrews, Aberdeen, or Glasgow.

Gettysburg is allowed to nominate 1 current sophomore who intends to spend his/her junior year studying abroad in Scotland.

The amount of the scholarship is $25,000, which is intended to cover a significant part of the tuition, room, and board. Nominees must be enrolled on a full-time basis; must be in the top 25% of their class; and be U.S. citizens.

You do not have to be of Scottish ancestry and scholarships are available for any course of study. Scholarship are available to students from households of all incomes.

Application forms and further details are available from Dean Forrestal (mforrest@gettysburg.edu)

Keep in mind that you must write a 3-5 page essay on your personal background, why you want to study in Scotland, and why you should be selected for the scholarship.

---

The Cary Institute of Ecosystem Studies in Millbrook, NY is now accepting applications for its summer 2018 REU program in "Translational Ecology". This NSF-funded program emphasizes the community nature of the scientific enterprise, fosters reflection and builds self-confidence and skills. To complement their mentored research, students have many chances to interact, give and receive feedback and support, and participate in a rich assortment of enrichment activities, workshops and field trips around the theme of translational ecology. To apply: visit: http://www.caryinstitute.org/students/reu-program

Application deadline: January 28, 2018 11:59 PM

Dates: May 21 to August 10, 2018 (12 weeks)

Eligibility: Undergraduate freshmen, sophomores, juniors or first semester seniors. Must be citizens or permanent residents of the U.S. or its possessions. Underrepresented minorities and first generation college students are encouraged to apply.

Stipend: $6,600 stipend, plus a $900 food allowance and free on-campus housing.

Other support: Assistance is available for travel to and from the program as well.

---

PRESIDENTIAL INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

The American University in Cairo

The Program:

Established in 1981, the Presidential Internship Program at The American University in Cairo (AUC) provides recent university graduates the opportunity to spend an academic year working at the highest levels of an international university, learn Arabic and experience life in Egypt.

Work and Available Offices:

Participants intern full-time in one of eight university offices, working in a range of fields including University administration, sustainability, finance, student development, advancement, communications, and more. A detailed list of these offices can be found on http://www.aucegypt.edu/president/internship-program/offices. More offices may be added in the coming weeks, so please keep checking the website. This program provides recent graduates the unique opportunity to begin their professional careers while abroad.

Benefits:

Program benefits include a monthly living stipend, furnished faculty housing, private Arabic tutoring, access to AUC faculty and staff programs, community-based personal development, subsidized trips around Cairo and Egypt, and more.

Application:

We look for a diverse array of applicants from a wide range of American universities, including students with no background in Arabic or Middle Eastern Studies. Potential applicants should visit our website for more information on the program and how to apply.

The application is due January 22, 2018. If you have any questions or would like help with your application, please contact Dean Maureen Forrestal (mforrest@gettysburg.edu) to set up a meeting.