FALL IN: Now that the calendar - and weather - have finally flipped to fall, there are a few items on the Gettysburg horizon that may be of interest:

- National Apple Harvest Festival, Oct. 6-7 & Oct. 13-14 – Held in nearby Biglerville, the 54th annual family-friendly event elevates the art of the apple to new heights. Learn more.
- Family Weekend, Oct. 19-21 – A bevy of activities throughout campus are planned to keep everyone active and engaged. See the full schedule, and don’t wait until it's too late to make dinner reservations! The options are plentiful.
- Veterans Day Weekend, Nov. 9-11 – The Vietnam Veterans Memorial in the new addition to the CUB will be dedicated on Saturday, Nov. 10, at 11 a.m., and a host of additional events – educational, emotional and social – will fill out the weekend. While the focus will be on those who served, EVERYONE is invited to attend. See the full schedule of events and register today.
- Dedication Day, Nov. 19 – The anniversary of Lincoln’s Gettysburg Address is commemorated each year with a moving, morning ceremony at the National Cemetery in Gettysburg. This year’s keynote speaker will be our own President Janet Morgan Riggs ’77, which will add her name to those of previous speakers such as Steven Spielberg, Ken Burns, Tom Brokaw and Harry Truman. The day-long series of events – on a Monday this year – culminates with the College’s 57th annual Fortenbaugh Lecture, which will feature University of Alabama professor emeritus George Rable.
