

Class of 2009 – Where Are They Going?

- Master's Program in jazz history and research, Rutgers University, NJ.
- M.A./Ed.S. in school psychology, James Madison University
- Student teaching 3rd grade at Biglerville Elementary, Fall '09
- Masters in acupuncture Tai Sophia Institute Baltimore, MD
- Graduate school for a teaching degree (K-6) and a Masters in teaching. Chatham University, Pittsburgh, PA
- PhD program in Clinical Developmental Psychology Bryn Mawr College. Assistantship working as a Teacher's Assistant @ Thorne School - a private pre-school for 3 and 4 year olds.
- Year in Sydney, Australia working and traveling through BUNAC. Then to grad school for Ph.D.
- Student teaching first grade Eisenhower Elementary then on to teach elementary school
- Teaching English as a second language in New York City with Teach for America for 2 years while completing a Masters in education at Fordham University.
- Student teaching social studies at Hanover High School and then pursuing a teaching or school counseling job.
- Entering Johns Hopkins University School of Nursing for the accelerated BSN program.
- Hofstra University's PhD program in Clinical Psych.
- Two-year fellow (IRTA) at the NIAAA (Nat'l Inst. of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism) Lab of Behavioral Science and Genetics. Then applying to grad programs in Neuroscience
- Masters in School Psychology, Millersville University
- MSW, University of Pennsylvania
- Working at the New England Center for Children as a teacher in their residential program with 13-18 year old autistic boys. Possibly volunteering with Peace Corps to teach English in Thailand beginning in Jan. 2010. Then pursue a Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology.
- Mental Health Therapist at Inova Mount Vernon Hospital in Alexandria, VA working on Psychiatric Unit 3A. Applying to MA programs in Counseling Psychology.
- Heading to Grahamstown, South Africa. Volunteering with One Laptop Per Child. Will travel in and outside of South Africa with grant awarded for this purpose.

- Teaching English in Amiens, France for one year
- Boston College for an MA in Italian Language and Literature (with a graduate assistantship).
- University of Georgia for MA/Ph.D. program in Educational Psychology
- Research Assistant, Center for Autism Research, Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
- Student teaching first grade at Fairfield Elementary. Then pursuing a teaching position.
- Counselor at Abraxas Rehabilitation Center for Juveniles, South Mountain, PA