HOW TO NAVIGATE A JOB FAIR

By: Dr. Manuel Ruiz

The Center for Career Development organizes a Job and Internship Fair each semester. If you plan on attending the fair, proper planning and preparation are keys to having a positive experience. For your convenience, here is a compilation of helpful tips that you will want to refer to prior to attending the job fair, as well as during and after the fair.

Before The Job Fair:

1. Research employers. Look over the list and see who is recruiting. Decide which employers interest you. Then, visit their websites. Find out who they are, what they do, and why you might want to work there. With this knowledge of their organization, you’ll be able to talk intelligently with recruiters at the job fair and impress them.

2. Update and polish your resume. Create an effective resume using key accomplishment statements. Stop by the Center for Career Development during drop-in hours (Monday – Friday from 2:30 – 4:30pm) for assistance, if needed. During the fair, bring several copies of your resume. Carry them in a professional portfolio.

3. Dress for success. First impressions are important. Dress conservatively in clothes you would wear on the job (i.e., a suit). Forgot your suit at home? Don’t panic! The Center for Career Development has a clothing bank that can assist you. For more details, stop by the office.

4. Practice your handshake. Engage the full hand, palm to palm. Grip firmly, but don’t crush. Look the other person in the eye and smile.

5. Prepare and practice your “sales pitch.” This is a short speech – 15 seconds long. Follow the four step plan: (1) Give your name; (2) Mention the position you are looking for; (3) State your experience, skills, and accomplishments. Explain how they benefitted a previous employer and how they’ll benefit the employer at the fair (accomplishments are big selling points); (4) Offer your unique selling point – What sets you apart from the competition – What makes you special?

6. Questions to expect from recruiters. Can you tell me a little about yourself? Tell me about your skills? What attracts you to this industry? What do you know about our company? Why do you want to work for us? What motivates you to do a good job? Tell me about your proudest accomplishment. What are your career goals?

7. Questions to ask recruiters. What qualifications will make a candidate stand out? What are the biggest challenges of this position? What do you like most about working for your company? Can you describe your corporate culture? What types of training do you offer? What are the next steps in the recruitment process? How can I secure a job interview with your company?

8. Questions NOT TO ASK. What’s the pay range for this position? What about benefits and vacation time? Can you tell me about your company?* (*This question demonstrates that you did not do research).

At the Job Fair

1. Develop your game plan. Arrive early, get a list of employers, and plan your order of attack. Remember, we will have a waiting area for students to relax, take a break, and ask questions!

2. Start talking and wowing. You only have a few minutes to wow each recruiter – make it count. Your conversation should be interesting, short, and memorable.

3. End with a request. Say that you are interested in the position. Give the recruiter your resume. Ask for the recruiter’s business card. Ask the recruiter, “How should I follow up with you and when?” Take notes on what the recruiter says.

4. Make a good impression. Firm hand shake, be professional, let your personality shine, and think of your conversation as a mini interview.

5. Network with everyone. Don’t just talk to employers; talk to other job seekers as well. You never know who may be a good contact for you.

After the Job Fair

1. Follow Up – Make Yourself Memorable. Write a thank you note! A thank you note shows the recruiter that you really want the job. You’ll also stand out because you are one of the few who made a special effort. The note can be handwritten or email. Handwritten is more memorable and personal.

2. Write to Everyone Else. Send an email to the recruiters you didn’t talk to, but whose business cards you took.

3. Keep Your Application in Motion. Follow the recruiters’ instructions for setting up interviews/next steps. If a recruiter told you to go online and fill out a job application, do it. When you apply, write that you met their recruiter at the Job Fair. Then email the recruiter to tell them you applied online as requested.

4. Persistence Pays. Remember those business cards you collected? Stay in touch and follow-up within two weeks. Let them know that you are still interested. IMPORTANT NOTE: DO NOT BOMBARD THE RECRUITER ON A WEEKLY BASIS – THIS COULD WORK AGAINST YOU!

CENTRIC BUSINESS SYSTEM ......................................................................................................................
Job Description: If you are a hard-working and personable individual with a desire to work for an industry-leading office technology company, join the Centric team! We are looking for an Outside Sales Representative to market and sell our products and services to businesses within a protected account territory. The office products business is no longer about copying, faxing, and printing. It’s about complete management of document requirements. As the largest independent SHARP dealer in the nation, as well as the fastest growing dealer of RICOH products, we provide an extensive line of copiers, printers and output solutions including archiving and managing documents. We combine the best hardware, software and services to manage document workflow and improve productivity.

You will sell to new and existing clients ranging from small “mom & pop” businesses to Fortune 500 companies. In order to ensure your success with us, we will provide you with state-of-the-art training as well as exceptional company support. Whether you are a new or experienced sales professional, this is a fantastic opportunity for you to build a career in which you earn a great income while helping your clients to improve their own businesses. Benefits as an Outside Sales Representative, you will receive: competitive base-plus-commission pay – all commissions are uncapped; and you can expect to make $50K-150K your first year; protected account territory; a comprehensive benefits package including medical, dental, 401k, profit sharing, paid vacation, and paid holidays; all-expenses-paid President’s Club trip for top performers; performance-based rewards and incentives (bonuses, gift cards, etc.); great potential for upward mobility; car allowance; cell phone; extensive sales and product training from industry leaders; energetic and friendly team; support of a large, award-winning and aggressively growing company; opportunities for use of Ravens and Orioles tickets; company events (summer crab feast and holiday party)

Job Responsibilities: As an Outside Sales Representative, you will engage in new business development through prospecting, networking, and referrals as well as maintaining and further developing accounts with existing clients. Your specific duties will include: marketing and selling Centric’s products, services, and solutions to business decision makers in a protected account territory; aggressively pursuing competitive accounts and differentiating Centric from its competitors; maintain up-to-date knowledge of our constantly-growing line of products, including cutting-edge digital solutions, to ensure that you can provide your clients with the latest in office technology and document management solutions; making consultative business-to-business presentations through active listening and needs analysis in order to ensure that you provide your clients with the most appropriate technology solutions; managing the entire sales cycle across customer accounts, and engaging specialists as needed; sustaining business development activities, appointments, demos, proposals, cold calls, dials, and database updates; ability to influence, negotiate, and gain commitment at all organizational levels; preparing daily/weekly action plans; meeting or exceeding revenue and gross profit expectations.

Job Requirements: As an Outside Sales Representative, you must have an exceptional work ethic and be competitive, outgoing, professional, and driven to succeed. You must also be highly organized with strong time-management, multitasking, and prioritization skills. Specific qualifications for the Outside Sales Representative position will include: Bachelor’s Degree; previous business to business sales experience or internship is preferred, but not required; proficiency using MS Office, particularly Excel, Word and PowerPoint; personal drive and internal motivation towards high achievement; ability to work collaboratively and effectively in a team-oriented environment; demonstrate the ability to establish rapport and develop long-lasting business relationships with your clients; excellent verbal and written communication, interpersonal, and presentation skills; demonstrated flexibility, adaptability and willingness to take risks and try new approaches.

Live in an intentional community of 4-7 Lutheran Volunteer Corps Volunteers and practice simple and sustainable living, while exploring spirituality. LVC Volunteers receive a stipend which covers housing, food, transportation, health insurance, and personal expenses. Volunteers are guaranteed two weeks of paid vacation. Volunteers receive support from a regional Program Manager who assists with concerns and questions regarding their placement and community and coordinates bi-annual regional retreats. LVC is on a Journey to an Inclusive Community, forming and strengthening alliances among people of many cultures and communities, and intentionally dismantling racism within LVC, the church, and society. As a Reconciling in Christ organization, LVC welcomes and encourages the participation of people who self-identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer in all aspects of LVC. LVC volunteers come from a wide variety of faith backgrounds, and do not need to be Lutheran. Married and committed partners are welcome to apply. While there is no upper age limit, volunteers need to be at least 21 to participate and have a high school diploma or GED. Volunteers are also expected to engage the core practice of financial sustainability by participating in LVC fundraising activities through peer-to-peer fundraising and community-building events during their LVC year.

Application deadline: April 1, 2016. www.lutheranvolunteercorps.org/volunteer

Key Skills and Requirements: • Strong analytical, critical thinking, and writing skills • Strong technology related skills, aptitude, and interest – solid MS Office skills are vital • Interest in e-commerce, email and web marketing and the related analytics including Google Analytics. Prior experience preferred. • Ability to communicate professionally with clarity, and relate to all levels both within and outside the organization • Excellent work ethic • Focus, enthusiasm, and a strong desire to succeed • Motivated, self-starter, who can prioritize and multi-task • Experience in marketing, at the internship or academic level • Solid academic record.

WEBINAR MARKETER / MARKETING COORDINATOR ------ We are seeking sharp, highly organized candidates for our Webinar Marketer position. We present over 40 paid webinars and related professional training events per month, with paid attendance per webinar ranging from 30 professionals to several hundred. Our Webinar Marketers are each assigned to several specific professional training areas (e.g., Human Resources, Finance, Marketing, Health Care, etc.). For each area assigned, the Webinar Marketer is responsible for conducting market research on customer needs, selecting training topics that satisfy those needs, recruiting top notch speakers to present the topic and designing the email marketing copy / email solicitation. The event marketing consists of a series of emails to our large and growing customer database. Once the email series begins, the Webinar Marketer analyzes the audience email response levels, adjusts the marketing accordingly and works with the speaker to carry out the webinar. Full, in-depth training is provided for this position. • Perform market research to identify customer needs • Translate customer needs into webinar topics and training programs • Recruit and network with high-level webinar presenters and instructors • Write compelling email marketing copy that generates customer sign ups • Manage timelines and work with speaker to execute webinar programs.
ASSISTANT EDITOR ----- We hire the best and brightest recent college graduates in liberal arts or who have a year or two of experience as reporters and writers. They are only hired if we believe they have the potential to become an Editor in Chief. They typically begin writing for two publications. Our goal is to give them exposure to different fields and see what they like and what they're good at. Eventually, they’ll specialize in one field. As a rule, it takes at least a year to learn our business. A successful Assistant Editor who desires upward mobility can earn an accelerated career path to Editor in Chief. What does it take to succeed? 1. Superior reporting and writing skills. Many of our best editors have come from community newspapers. Others have done trade reporting. Our senior editors have come from top newspaper, wire service, magazine, and broadcast companies. These include UPI, USA Today, The Philadelphia Inquirer, The Legal Intelligencer, sports magazines, all-news radio stations and others. 2. Willingness to gain deep knowledge of a specific field. Almost all of our writers did not have such knowledge when they came to PBP. They did, however, come with a strong desire to learn. 3. Willingness to take on the unique challenges of the newsletter industry. Again, most of our people didn’t know the newsletter business when they arrived. We stress to candidates repeatedly during the interview process that newsletters are unlike anything they’ve done before, that specialized publishing requires a new way of thinking, and that it’s very challenging. What kind of people fit in at PBP? 1. They’re bright. 2. They have strong values. 3. They’re eager to try something new and different. 4. They’re eager to work in a high-performance, non-political environment. 5. They’re committed to continuous learning. 6. They’re team players who thrive in a collegial environment. 7. They like accountability.

PUB MARKETER / MARKETING SPECIALIST ----- Our Marketing professionals are involved in all aspects of our many divisions including: e-mail marketing, website planning and marketing, product launches, marketing strategy development, and campaign deployment, testing and analysis. TARGET COMMUNITY & EDUCATIONAL SERVICES, INC ..................................................................................................................
www.targetcommunity.org
Community Living Manager - Master's Degree Program at McDaniel College. In 1983, the year of its founding, Target Community & Educational Services, Inc. (Target) started a unique and innovative partnership with McDaniel College to provide a Master’s Degree Program in Human Services Management. This program, designed to train individuals for leadership positions in community-based human services programs, has become the core of Target's Community Living Program. Individuals hired by Target to serve as Community Living Managers (CLMs) must complete the two-year, 33 credit-hour master’s program while they work as live-in house managers in one of Target's homes or in the apartment program. Graduate students in this program receive a 75% tuition scholarship, an annual stipend, free room and board, and health care benefits. Each graduate student works an average of 40 hours per week in his/her Target home, shares responsibilities with a second McDaniel graduate student, and has community living assistants working with them to help support the clients with disabilities who live in the home.
Candidates must have a bachelor's degree with an undergraduate GPA of 2.7 or above and must hold a valid driver's license with less than three points. This partnership between Target and McDaniel College has many benefits, but two are paramount. First, the graduate student CLMs working in one of Target's homes or in the apartment program gain both an academic degree and practical experience that will prepare them to assume roles as leaders in human services organizations around the country. Second, Target's residential clients benefit from having motivated and highly-educated house managers who will remain in their homes or apartments during their two-year academic program.

URBAN TEACHER CENTER

http://www.urbanteachercenter.org
Urban Teachers is transforming the way people are prepared for a career in teaching. Through hands-on training, coaching and peer supports, we give teachers the skills they need to improve outcomes for students in high-needs communities. By doing so, our teachers are changing the lives of the students, families, and communities they serve as well their own. Urban Teachers is now taking applications for our Baltimore, Dallas, and Washington, DC Corps for the 2016-17 school year, with placement in mid- to late June 2016. Our recruitment process is selective. While there is no restriction on undergraduate or graduate major, we look for applicants who have exhibited academic excellence by maintaining a 3.0 GPA or higher, who gravitate to big challenges and have experience working with children. Urban Teachers participants are part of an unprecedented commitment to student performance: Only those who demonstrate effective teaching practice and improve student learning receive two certifications and complete the full four-year program. Urban Teachers participants are among the most expert and result-oriented in the nation because: Urban Teachers provides the best teaching preparation available. During the first year of the 4-year program, before you start teaching on your own, you’ll spend 1,500 hours working with students in urban classrooms. You will also complete graduate coursework that is clinically based, allowing for immediate practice of learned skills in the classroom and equipping you with a toolbox of proven strategies for working with all students. Our four (4) years of mentoring and support tailored to your needs—from coaches and peers—is available longer than any other preparation program. And, because Urban Teachers prepares you for the job from day 1, you’ll be able to quickly grow into an effective teacher leader, providing support and guidance to your colleagues in your school and city. In addition to extensive classroom experience during the residency, Urban Teachers participants earn a master’s degree with a dual focus in general and special education that is directly relevant to the urban teacher. Urban Teachers also provides three (3) years of one-on-one coaching. During the first year, participants receive a stipend from Urban Teachers. Starting your second year, you are the teacher of record and participants begin to receive full teacher’s pay. (Teacher salaries in Baltimore and DC are some of the highest in the nation. Both cities allow an effective teacher to earn six figures.) As part of an Urban Teachers cohort in every school, you’re never alone. Being with other Urban Teachers participants provides an immediate network—in your school and in the thriving—Baltimore, Dallas, or Washington, DC. Urban Teachers educators are trusted by and form partnerships with their colleagues across schools. Teachers are respected community and civic leaders. Whether you’re doing home visits or running into your student’s families at the market, you’ll be having an impact on improving the neighborhood and community you’re living in. Urban Teachers is an Employer of National Service. Our next application deadline is February 1st, March 28th, and May 2nd, and spaces are filling fast! For more information or to start an application, visit us on the web at www.urbanteachers.org.
