182nd Commencement
Sunday, May 21, 2017
11:00 a.m.
North Side, Pennsylvania Hall
Gettysburg College was founded on April 7, 1832, by anti-slavery theologian Samuel Simon Schmucker. Five years later, the institution (then known as Pennsylvania College) moved into Pennsylvania Hall, built on land provided by Thaddeus Stevens, whose illustrious career in Congress included authorship of the 14th Amendment, which guaranteed full civil rights to citizens of all states.

When the Civil War erupted, the College stood in its midst. Elements of two great armies swept through campus on July 1, 1863, the first day of the decisive Battle of Gettysburg. Pennsylvania Hall became a hospital for hundreds of soldiers from both North and South.

On November 19, 1863 townspeople, students, and faculty marched to hear President Abraham Lincoln hallow the National Cemetery with his Gettysburg Address. David Wills, an 1851 graduate, invited Lincoln to deliver "a few appropriate remarks."

Almost a century later, President Dwight D. Eisenhower settled in Gettysburg after leaving the White House in 1961 and served on the College’s Board of Trustees. He wrote his memoirs in what is today the College’s Admissions Office.

Today, Gettysburg College is a vibrant learning community that has produced prominent graduates in a wide variety of fields, including former White House Counsel Fred Fielding ’61, U.S. Congressman Ron Paul ’57, Nobel Prize-winning cancer researcher Michael Bishop ’57, former NAACP President and CEO Bruce Gordon ’68, five-time Oscar-nominated cinematographer Owen Roizman ’58, Chair of the Global Partnership for Education Carol Bellamy ’63, Newbery Medal-winning Maniac Magee author Jerry Spinelli ’63, leading sleep researcher Mary Carskadon ’69, McKnight Foundation President Kathryn Wolford ’79, and Emmy-award winning actor, stylist, author, and fashion guru Carson Kressley ’91.
The Presidential Medallion

The Gettysburg College Presidential Medallion and chain were created in 1978 for the inauguration of Charles E. Glassick, the eleventh president, by Norman L. Annis, former professor of art. The medallion features the former College seal, three inches in diameter. The seal is flanked by two smaller medallions, one being the seal of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and the other depicting symbols of higher education. The one-inch medallions, which constitute the chain, list the past presidents and the dates they served the College.

The College Mace

Ceremonial occasions at Gettysburg College begin with the entrance of the College mace, carried by the College Marshal. The mace symbolizes the College’s governing authority and is present only when the president is in attendance. It is used only at Convocation, the Midyear Graduates Recognition ceremony, the Baccalaureate service, and the Commencement ceremony.

The tradition of the mace derives from medieval England, when the mace was held by a bodyguard for dignitaries at ceremonial functions. As an ancient symbol of authority, it reminds us that the College is a custodian both of the enduring traditions of learning and of the power they bestow upon those who come to learn.

The Beachem Portico

The portico on the north side of Pennsylvania Hall is properly known as the Beachem Portico, erected with funds given by the Alumni Association and dedicated to the memory of the College’s first alumni secretary, Charles W. Beachem 1925. Gettysburg College’s Alumni Association is among the oldest in the nation and particularly notable for having been formed within three years of the 1832 founding of the College. The Alumni Association of Pennsylvania College (as it was then known) was founded on Commencement day, September 16, 1835. There were eleven initial members, the graduates of 1834 and 1835.

President’s Chair

The President’s Chair comes from the estate of Dr. F. William Sunderman Sr., a 1919 graduate of Gettysburg College. In 1983 he created the Sunderman Foundation for Chamber Music, which presents a concert series on campus each year. He was also a trustee emeritus of the College and the founder of its annual Henry M. Scharf Lecture on Current Affairs. Upon Dr. Sunderman’s death in 2003, his legacy provided for the establishment of the College’s F. William Sunderman Sr. Conservatory of Music, which began admitting students in the fall of 2006.

Stole of Gratitude

The “stole of gratitude,” a tradition marking its thirteenth year, is in part a gift from the Gettysburg College Alumni Association and the President’s Office. The graduates will wear the stoles throughout the Commencement Exercises as symbols of their appreciation for all of the individuals whose support was instrumental in bringing them to this day. At the reception following Commencement, or at some other time, graduates may present the stole to someone to demonstrate their gratitude for that individual’s role in their success.

Academic Regalia

Academic ceremonies, with their gowns, mortarboards, tassels, hoods, and maces are colorful traditions handed down from European universities of the Middle Ages. The first organized institutions of learning took form during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, generally under the jurisdiction of the church. Academic regalia, as we know them today, have evolved from the robes, hoods, and caps worn mainly for warmth in unheated buildings by the clerics, monks, and priests who were the first students.

While European universities continue to show great diversity in their academic dress, American universities, in 1895, adopted a code of academic uniformity. The colors, designs, and opulence used in the tassels, hoods, velvet and satin trimmings, and robes designate everything from the level of degree held by the wearer, to his or her field of study, to the institution from which the degree was earned.

Addressing the graduating class, Johnnetta Betsch Cole is also being presented with the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, D.H.L., for work in the arenas of higher education, human rights, non-profit organizations, and community service.

Specifically, Cole has had a long and distinctive career as an educator, museum professional, and humanitarian. She most recently served as the Director of the Smithsonian National Museum of African Art (NMAAF), a position from which she retired in March 2017. She is a member of the Scholarly Advisory Board for the Smithsonian’s National Museum of African American History and Culture.

Most notably, Cole is known for being the first African American woman to serve as the president of Spelman College. She also served as the president of Bennett College for Women.

Admitted to Fisk University at the age of 15, Cole completed her undergraduate degree at Oberlin College. She later earned her master’s degree and Ph.D. in Anthropology from Northwestern University before embarking on a career in teaching and research in the areas of Cultural Anthropology, African American Studies, and Women’s Studies. She later became a professor and then served as an administrator for various institutions prior to becoming the president of Spelman College in 1987. Under her leadership, Spelman became the first historically black college or university to receive a number one rating from U.S. News and World Report. That same year, she was named to President-elect Bill Clinton’s transition team as cluster coordinator for education, labor, and the arts and humanities.

Cole left higher education in 2009 when she was appointed the Director of NMAAF. Outside of these roles, she has served as an active participant in numerous community, civic, and business organizations, including the Carter Center, the TransAfrica Forum, Coca-Cola, and the United Way of America. She has also authored several books and numerous articles. With Beverly Guy-Sheftall, she wrote Gender Talk: The Struggle for Women’s Equality in African American Communities.

Through her work, Cole consistently addresses racial, gender, and other forms of inequality. She is the recipient of numerous awards, including 64 honorary degrees.

Michael L. Cooper-White is being presented with the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, D.D., for his long-standing dedication to service in the area of Lutheran theology, religious education, and the community.

Cooper-White is the 12th president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, a position he has held since 2000. Prior to this role, he had already established a distinguished career of service to the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA).

Born and raised in rural west central Minnesota, Cooper-White graduated Summa Cum Laude from Concordia College, Moorhead. He went on to earn a Master of Divinity degree from the Gettysburg Seminary in 1976, and studied law at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

With the Evangelical Lutheran Church, Cooper-White served as both the Executive Assistant to the Presiding Bishop and the Director of ELCA’s Department for Synodical Relations. In the latter capacity, he was chief staff person for the Conference of Bishops, and responsible for oversight of the ELCA churchwide organization’s relationship with the church’s 65 synods. He has been a consultant to and developed resources for ELCA and ecumenical church leaders throughout the U.S. and in Latin America.

As the president of the Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary, Cooper-White is the chief pastoral leader, chairs the faculty, coordinates administrative team leaders, and works closely with the Board of Directors in institutional planning and oversight. He also serves on a rotating basis as Executive Director of the Eastern Cluster of Lutheran Seminaries.

In addition to providing administrative oversight for the seminary, Cooper-White teaches church administration and leadership. He is the author of the following books published by Augsburg/Fortress: On a Wing and a Prayer: Faithful Leadership in the 21st Century; Church Administration: Purpose, Programs, Process (with Robert Bacher); The Comeback God: A Theological Primer for a Life of Faith; and of numerous articles and devotional materials.

Cooper-White also has a passion for flying—he is a certified pilot and flight instructor, and serves as a chaplain with the Civil Air Patrol.

Cooper-White is married to the Rev. Dr. Pamela Cooper-White and is the father of three children.
Moncef Slaoui is being presented with the honorary degree of Doctor of Science, Sc.D., for his unwavering commitment to crossing new scientific frontiers in the development of vaccines that treat both existing diseases and also potential pandemic threats. Specifically, he has engineered the development of several vaccines that prevent infantile gastroenteritis, pneumococcal disease, and cervical cancer.

Over the course of Slaoui’s career, he has worked as a scientist, a businessman, and a scholar. He has most recently served as the Chairman of Vaccines at GlaxoSmithKline (GSK)—the largest pharmaceutical company in the United Kingdom—a position from which he retired in March. Slaoui first began working for GSK in 1988 and became a director in 2006.

At GSK, Slaoui was responsible for the global vaccines business through its integration of the Novartis vaccine acquisition in 2015. In his more than 30 years with the company, he has served as Chairman of GSK’s Research and Development for eight years, where he was responsible for the franchise commercialization, new product launches, and lifecycle management. He continued to oversee GSK’s venture capital arm, SR One, and other venture capital partnerships as a member of the Corporate Executive Team and Board of Directors.

Additionally, Slaoui is the Chairman of the Board of Directors of Galvani Bioelectronics, the company launched in November 2016 that GSK jointly owns with Verily Life Sciences.

Slaoui earned his Ph.D. in Molecular Biology and Immunology from the Université Libre de Bruxelles, Belgium, and completed postdoctoral studies at both Harvard Medical School and Tufts University School of Medicine. As a professor of Immunology at the University of Mons in Belgium, he authored more than 100 scientific papers and presentations. Currently, Slaoui is a member of the Qatar Biomedical Research Institute Scientific Advisory Committee and serves as a non-executive director for the International AIDS Vaccine Initiative. His advice is regularly sought by the U.S. President’s Council of Advisors on Science and Technology.

A global citizen, Slaoui holds citizenship in Morocco, Belgium, and the U.S. and is fluent in Arabic, French, and English. He currently resides in Philadelphia with his wife, Kristen Belmonte Slaoui ’92, and their son.

Speaking on behalf of the Class of 2017, Haya Mohanna ’17 will graduate cum laude with a Bachelor of Science in Mathematical Economics.

An international student from Gaza, Palestine, Mohanna has been involved in various aspects of campus life. As a first-year student, Mohanna worked as a student assistant and housing coordinator in the Office of Residential and First-Year Programs. She also served on the First-Year Common Read Committee, helping to select a common reading for the first-year class and creating a semester-long program that will encourage students to think critically about the themes of the book.

Mohanna has also excelled academically. She made the Dean’s List her first-year and her sophomore year, and served as a Peer Learning Associate for the economics department. A member of the international economics honors fraternity Omicron Delta Epsilon, Mohanna has served as their director of marketing.

Mohanna served as an ambassador for both international students and for her Palestinian culture. She worked as an international mentor for the Intercultural Resource Center (now the Office of Multicultural Engagement), and regularly spoke in the local Gettysburg community about human rights issues.

While studying abroad in Aix-en-Provence, France, Mohanna maintained a blog to share the experiences of students in her program and represented the College during a visit to the European Union Parliament. As a result of her academic achievement and community engagement, she received the Institute for American Universities’ Diversity Scholarship, as well as the Etienne Gros Prize for Academic Excellence in Literature.

In her free time, Mohanna has participated in the Eisenhower Institute’s Women in Leadership program, was a member of Dance Ensemble, and regularly volunteered with Campus Kitchen.

Mohanna has completed two internships—a research internship with the National Institute on Retirement Security in Washington, D.C., and a digital communications internship with Select Medical in Mechanicsburg, Pa. Upon graduation, she plans to work as a business analyst and later attend graduate school to earn her master’s degree in behavioral economics.

David LeVan ’68 is being presented with the Lavern H. Brenneman ’36 Award for Exemplary Volunteer Service to Gettysburg College. The award is conferred in recognition of those individuals whose distinguished service to Gettysburg College stands head and shoulders above others who have served the institution faithfully.

A lifelong native of Gettysburg, LeVan graduated from the College in 1968 with a degree in business administration and is a managing partner of Battlefield Harley Davidson.

Starting in 1994, LeVan has served as a member of the Board of Trustees for 12 years, including the position of chair from 1998 to 2003. He was elected a Trustee Emeritus in 2006.

In 2004, he and his late wife, Jennifer, made a $1-million commitment to support the renovation of Gettysburg College’s Majestic Theater and co-chaired the Majestic Theater Renovation Project. Their inspiring philanthropic and advisory support for the project was recognized shortly after the theater’s reopening, when the Board of Trustees formally renamed the complex The Jennifer and David LeVan Performing Arts Center. He currently serves on the Majestic Theater Centennial Endowment Committee.

LeVan’s commitment to the College extends beyond these roles. He has held leadership positions in the comprehensive campaigns of Gettysburg College, helping to positively transform the College for future generations. Most notably, he established the David M. LeVan Endowed Chair of Ethics and Management to provide academic focus and scholarly leadership on ethical issues related to management and leadership, and to help instill a concern for ethical issues and behavior throughout the liberal arts curriculum.

He has assisted and influenced the College’s volunteer boards and task forces, including the Commission on the Future’s Task Force on Economics and Management, the Board of Fellows, and the Alumni Executive Board. He has also served as a leader on the College and Community Affairs Council, which has strengthened the bonds between campus and the greater Gettysburg area.

Honor Cords

The College awards the following honors to members of the graduating class. These senior honors are intended for students with four years of residence at Gettysburg College; grade point average computations are based on four years’ performance. Honor cords will be worn by students receiving these honors.

Cum Laude
Awards to those students who have an accumulative average of 3.5 through 3.69. Orange honor cord.

Magna Cum Laude
Awards to those seniors who have an accumulative average of 3.7 through 3.89. Silver honor cord.

Summa Cum Laude
Awards to those seniors who have an accumulative average of 3.9 or higher. Gold honor cord.

In addition, a number of academic departments and organizations present graduates with honor cords.

As softly the evening shadows are veiling the campus towers,
When ever thy loyal ones gather to waken fond memory,

We come, a band of good fellows, to sing in the twilight hours;
Our thoughts shall be turned, Alma Mater, old Gettysburg back to thee:

The silver moonlight mantles, the worn walls of chapel anew,
For ever am I thy debtor and what ever else I may do,

The wind in the trees sweetly echoes, our praises of orange and blue.
I'll love, I'll defend, and I'll honor the glorious orange and blue.
