Resources

Networking
Networking should be viewed as an information-sharing activity and should not be viewed as a one-time contact. The best networking relationships are those that are developed and maintained over time. Informational interviews are a great way to learn more from professionals with whom you’ve connected.

Wilson College Internship

The Hankey Center at Wilson College is a research center for the study of the history of women’s education. Internship projects will take into consideration the skills and interests of each student. Internships are available for the fall and spring semesters and over the summer from May-August, part-time for 100-150 hours. To apply, please submit a resume, cover letter and contact information for two references to Amy Ensley, Director of the Hankey Center, at amy.ensley@wilson.edu.

INFORMATION SESSIONS

Obtaining your college degree is a journey of many choices, including choosing your major and what courses to take. None of these choices mention the word career. You would think that there is a relationship between majors and careers which is true for some but most majors do not relate to a specific career. In fact, the majority of majors at Gettysburg will actually prepare you for many career possibilities. Check out our list of what you can “do” with various careers.
