

Gettysburg College Center For Career Development

ONE-YEAR-OUT ALUMNI OUTCOMES

A Gettysburg education is the surest path toward developing the kind of intellectual power the world needs. From day one, Gettysburg prepares its students to be thinkers and doers—engaged citizens who care about making great progress. In fact, our graduates find career success in every industry imaginable all around the world.

At Gettysburg College, we work with every student to develop their career plan and build their professional network. From translating their college experiences into a marketable skill set to articulating their professional story, our students are prepared to land great jobs and lead great lives. Our results speak for themselves.

JOB AND GRADUATE SCHOOL INFORMATION

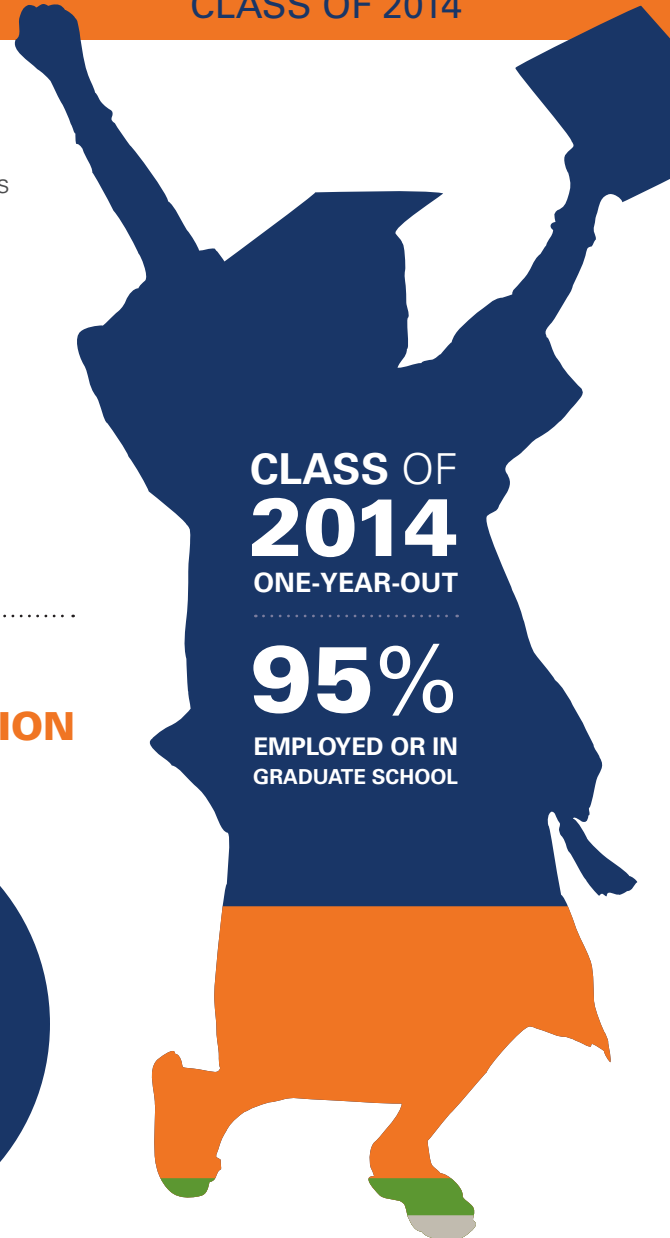

The One-Year-Out Alumni Outcomes Study was conducted by the Office of Institutional Analysis in collaboration with the Center for Career Development. Three methods were used to collect the alumni placement data for the 2014 graduating class: the One-Year-Out alumni survey, the HEDS Senior Survey, and a LinkedIn search. The final combined sample from all three sources consists of 534 graduates. The participation rate was 84 percent.

Gettysburg College Center for Career Development

Students come to Gettysburg for an education that will open doors to their future. The Center for Career Development is here to make sure students have the knowledge, skills, and experiences they need to start a successful career. We offer internship and externship opportunities, career planning and graduate school advising, job-search strategies, resume writing and interviewing workshops, and the tools to build a powerful network of professional contacts.
